Debrief

You've just taken part in an experiment conducted by researchers at the University of Bordeaux. The aim of this experiment was to understand the link between feelings of threat and measures (confidence, environmental attitude, etc.) by studying the mediating role of emotions. To this end, you were randomly allocated to one of several groups. Each group corresponded to a specific video, namely: a neutral video, an environmental threat video, a terrorist threat video, a war threat video.

If you do not wish your answers and information to be used in this study, you can ask for them to be destroyed by contacting Panelabs or the research manager at the following address: olivier.bargain@u-bordeaux.fr
