

To whom it might concern

We submitted the trial “Examining Bias in Teacher Evaluations of Students” on November 15, 2023. After submission, we made certain adjustments to the pre-analysis plan. As our survey distribution was scheduled for November 24, 2023, we needed to submit the updated version of the pre-analysis plan prior to this date. Regrettably, we encountered difficulties editing the trial on www.socialscienceregistry.org by November 23, 2023. Consequently, we forwarded the revised pre-analysis plan to support@socialscienceregistry.org, requesting assistance from the AEA RCT Registry Team to ensure that the updated plan was associated with the original trial before November 24, 2023. Unfortunately, the AEA RCT Registry Team does not possess the functionality to delete or directly upload documents to existing trials. Consequently, we have now uploaded the updated version of the pre-analysis plan to the trial.

In the interest of transparency and to provide context for those reviewing the version history, we have included a note in the document specifying the date of these updates.

All the best,
